

Our next speaker may often be seen hiding outside of the conference room where it's quiet, but today he will be at the front of the room to share 30 years of experience coaching people and teams across Europe.

To help you understand on how to close the productivity gap caused by ignorance of introversion, please welcome the Introvert In Business, Jon Baker