

Our next speaker may often be seen hiding outside of the conference room where it's quiet. But today he will be at the front of the room to share 30 years of experience coaching people and teams across Europe.

To help you understand on how to close the productivity gap caused by ignorance of introversion, and activate your introverts, please welcome the Introvert In Business, Jon Baker

Our next speaker is often be seen hiding outside of the conference room where it's quiet, or dancing with sharks and the drag queens of the undersea world.

Today he will be at the front of the room to share 30 years of experience coaching teams across Europe and perhaps some underwater stories.
